

“A challenging Legionella outbreak”

Dr. Joanne Kearon MD, MSc, MPH, CCFP, FRCPC
Associate Medical Officer of Health
Middlesex-London Health Unit

Dr. Joanne Kearon is the Associate Medical Officer of Health for the Middlesex-London Health Unit. She holds a Master of Science from Queen’s University and Master of Public Health from McMaster University. Following medical school at McMaster University, she completed residencies in Family Medicine and Public Health and Preventive Medicine at McMaster University.